

BRYAN FUND TO DATE $248,567 IN SMALL SUMS

Largest Contribution, $5,000.
Made by C. J. Hughes, of Colorado.

NEW YORK GAVE $21,150.

Noticeable Absence of Names of Men Prominent in the Trusts.

The Democratic National Committee, through Norman E. Mack, Chairman, and Herman Ridder, Treasurer, made public to-day the names of all who have contributed $100 or over to the campaign fund.

The list includes subscriptions up to and including Oct. 9, consequently Tammany Hall's donation of $10,000, made after that date, is missing. Daily lists of contributions of $100 and over will be made public until election, beginning to-morrow.

Up to Oct. 9, the committee had received $248,567.55 and had expended $25,902.88. There was a balance on hand at that time of $222,664.67. To "carry the campaign to a successful conclusion," in the language of Chairman Mack and Treasurer Ridder, $100,000 in addition to the amount on hand will be required.

Newspapers Collect $100,000.

The amount contributed by subscribers of $100 and over totaled $60,712.03. Contributors of amounts under $100 gave $115,555.22. Of this about $100,000 was collected by Democratic newspapers. The total number of contributors was about 60,000 on Oct. 9. The fund received $42,500, left over from the $100,000 paid by Denver for the National Convention.

New York contributed $21,150 in sums of $100 and over. The largest individual contributions from this State up to Oct. 9 were $2,500, each, from the National Democratic Club and Nathan Straus and $2,000 from Norman E. Mack.

The largest individual contribution up to Oct. 9 was made by Hon. Charles J. Hughes, of Colorado, who gave $5,000. Mr. Bryan's newspaper, The Commoner, contributed $4,000. There were many contributions of $5 and $10.

A survey of the list shows that thousands of Democratic war veterans have religiously refrained from giving $100 or over. In many States the national committeemen do not appear on the published roll as contributors—although they may have sent in less than $100 each.

Many Names Missing.

There is a noticeable absence of contributions from men prominently connected with trusts. Neither Thomas F. Ryan, August Belmont, David B. Hill or Judge Alton B. Parker appears as contributors. They ran the whole Democratic show four years ago. Henry Chaseway Davis, the candidate for Vice-President four years ago, gave $250.

The name of Gov. Haskell, of Oklahoma, does not appear in the list of contributors, although thirty-seven Oklahoma Democrats have contributed $4,250 in amounts of $100 or over. The largest contribution from Oklahoma was $1,000 from United States Senator R. L. Owen.

Missing names could be mentioned by the score. The name of Col. Jim Guffey, of Pennsylvania, who was deposed from the leadership by Bryan's orders at Denver, does not appear on the list. Neither does the name of Jim Kern, who succeeded Col. Guffey.

Senator Bailey, of Texas, has apparently contributed nothing to the fund. Neither has "Cowboy Jim" Dainman, of Omaha. Mr. Bryan's particular friend.

Some $1,000 Contributors.

Archibald McNeill, of Connecticut, who employed a fleet boat for the Vice-Presidential nomination, paid in $1,000, as did Melbert D. Cary, of the same State.

David R. Francis, of Missouri, who bolted Bryan in 1896 and 1900, appears as a contributor of $1,000.

Melville B. Ingalls, of Cincinnati, president of the Big Four Railroad, is another $1,000 contributor. Thomas Taggart, of Indiana, national committeeman, who secured the nomination of John W. Kern for the Vice-Presidency, also gave $1,000, but Mr. Kern is contributing only his labors on the stump. He is the only Vice-Presidential candidate in many years who has not given substantially of money to the campaign fund of his party. Senator W. A. Clark, of Montana, one of the richest men in the world, contributed $2,000.

The list of New York contributors includes:

National Democratic Club $2,000
Nathan Straus 2,000
Norman E. Mack 2,000
James K. McGuire 1,000
John W. Cox 1,000
Perry Belmont 1,000
Samuel Untermyer 1,000
Jacob Ruppert 1,000
De Lathew Nicol 1,000
William F. Sheehan 1,000
Edward M. Shepard 1,000
Republican managers took refuge in seclusion and silence on publication of the Democratic campaign fund. Chairman Hitchcock was said by his youthful secretary to be "out," and no effort would be made to establish communication with him.

INDIANA FOR BRYAN IS KERN'S PROMISE

Tells Commercial Travellers' League New York Must Make Triumph Complete.

With its star attraction John W. Kern, the Democratic candidate for Vice-President, there was a bumper audience at the midday meeting of the Commercial Travellers' League at No. 367 Broadway to-day. Charles F. Moore, Edward W. Norris, Franklin Halliday and "Farmer" Scott spoke for an hour before Mr. Kern arrived.

Ferdinand Zelgel, president of the Commercial Travellers' League, introduced the candidate and the applause lasted for several minutes. Mr. Kern said:

"I have been in this campaign fifty days and my strongest voice have been sorely taxed. While I have carried my voice over the prairies of the West and the mountains of the south, I fear it will not carry to the limits of this audience."

Twice the Democracy of Indiana and New York cast the deciding vote in electing a Democratic President. And now in the year of 1908 I bring you assurance that the electoral vote of Indiana will be given to William J. Bryan and I come to ask New York to join Indiana this year in making the triumph of Democracy complete. Applause.

"I am glad to address the people of this great city where Democratic doctrines should be promulgated, especially among the property interests here. It seems to me that the interests behind the great property interests should find abundant reasons for supporting Bryan. With two millions of our people out of employment, with $50,000 empty freight cars on the railroad sidings, with a panic without cause in a time of peace, with the standard of American living reduced because it cannot be supported further, with poverty and idleness among honest and deserving men, with paternalism on the one hand and Socialism on the other, with these alternatives, I do not see why they should have any difficulty in deciding that Bryan is the conservative candidate."

PASTOR HAD TO WAIT.

Church Was Painted and His Salary Held Back, So He Quits.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 15.—Because the majority of the church committee insisted on painting the church and paying for it, and letting the pastor's bill for salary go until a more convenient time, the pastor of the Universalist Church of Middletown, Rev. Richmond Park, has resigned. A balance of nearly $400, it is claimed, is due him.

Some of the members insist that the painting was not necessary just now and that the pastor's need is a reflection on the society and there is likely to be a split in the church. Rev. Park has been with the congregation nine years. He tried to resign last spring, but they prevailed on him to stay.
